

PJ 2500: Education & Social Justice

American education's contribution to class, gender, and "race" inequality; political bias in school curricula; unequal treatment of students by teachers and administrators based on "race", ethnicity, class, and gender; unequal allocation of resources among public schools; the public - private school debate; possible political influences in universities; the mass media as an important component of education.

Credits: 3

Program: Peace and Justice