

BIO 3661: Environment and Human Health

Presentation and discussion of scientific aspects of topics relating to the environment and human health. Specific topics covered vary, but could include biodiversity and health, ecosystem services, infectious diseases, climate change, endocrine disruption, food production (including GMOs), and urban ecology.

Credits: 3.0

Prerequisites:

BIO 2105

BIO 2106

GEV 1050

GEV 1051

(BIO 2105 and BIO 2106) or (GEV 1050 and GEV 1051)

Program: Biology