

CHE 5536: Biochemical Data Analysis

Analysis techniques applied to process biochemical data, including basic R programming, hypothesis testing, regression and ODE modeling, and multivariate statistical data analysis. Practical term projects to analyze literature data using learned techniques.

Credits: 3.0

Program: Chemical Engineering