

LTX 7005: Introduction to Digital Law

This course is comprised of four modules: Digital Technology in the Office; Issues Likely to Arise in Practice; Legal Implications of Doing Business in the Digital Marketplace - Tax, Securities and Banking; and Technology as a Marketplace - Industry Restructuring and Trade Implications. The course explores the gamut of issues facing practicing lawyers, and other professionals in the digital age. Topics include electronic commerce, taxing sales on the Internet, international trade implications of the Internet, privacy issues involved in data collection, and ethical issues of practicing law in the digital world.

Credits: 2.0