

LTX 2216: Comp App in Tax ILw

The course explores the advantages, disadvantages and application of automated document drafting, database management, spreadsheet analysis and telecommunications. Substantive areas covered may include electronic return filing, deferral and present value computations, generation of protests and petitions, and return item analysis. The course will use substantive areas of tax law to illustrate the mechanics and techniques of computer use.

Credits: 2.0